ATAR Enquiry Centre

UAC is once again operating its ATAR Enquiry Centre for students who have queries about the calculation of their ATAR. Days are as follows:

- Fri 18 December, 8.30am–6pm
- Sat 19 December, 8.30am–4.30pm
- Mon 21 December, 8.30am–4.30pm
- Tue 22 December, 8.30am–4.30pm

Offer rounds for Year 12 students

The most important offer rounds for Year 12 students are:

- December Round 2 – Wednesday 23 December
- January Round 1 – Friday 8 January 2021.

Not all courses will be offered in December Round 2, and applicants should check UAC's website for details of excluded courses before they finalise their course preferences. Please note, the Australian National University (ANU) will not be participating in December Round 2.

Students whose results are not available in time for December Round 2 can be assured that they will not be disadvantaged – universities will still have places available to make offers to all courses in January Round 1.

QILT Graduate Outcomes Survey Results

The 2020 Graduate Outcomes Survey – Longitudinal (GOS-L) measures the medium-term outcomes of higher education graduates based on a cohort analysis of graduates who responded to the 2017 Graduate Outcomes Survey (GOS).

The proportion of undergraduates in employment in 2017, four to six months after completing their course was 86.9 per cent, while three years later, 93.3 per cent had secured employment. The labour force participation rate measures the proportion of graduates available for employment. The labour force participation rate of graduates shortly after course completion was 92.3 per cent and this remained unchanged over the medium-term. Three years out, the median salary level among graduates in full-time employment had increased from $60,000 to $75,000, an increase of 25 per cent.

The Age of Biotechnology

11 November. 9pm

In the 21st century, biotechnology has emerged as one of the greatest frontiers of modern technology. Biotechnology is the utilisation of biological systems by human societies. The term is used to describe the process by which materials produced by living systems are turned into socially useful products and services.

Older examples of biotechnology include agriculture, brewing and fermentation, while modern techniques are highlighted by stem cells and gene editing.

Associate Professor Ed Newbigin will discuss what biotechnology is, and its importance in the development of many of the products essential to our continued survival. We'll also focus on the work of one of our graduates, Dr Fenny Martha Dwivany's current research at the School of Life Sciences and Technology, ITB.

University of Notre Dame Application Advice

Our application main round will continue on a rolling basis until Semester 1 commences in February 2021 for all programs, except for the Bachelor of Nursing which closed on 30 September due to high demand (refer to previous communications).

Complete applications will receive an outcome within 2 weeks and offers will be made to eligible applicants based on Year 11 and mid-Year 12 reports.

Applications need to be submitted directly to us through our online form and not through UAC.

Applicants with a conditional offer pending final HSC results will be contacted prior to Christmas to advise if their conditions have been met. If students have a conditional offer and would like more information or help understanding their next step, our team in the Prospective Students Office can help.

We encourage students to accept their offer as soon as possible by following the instructions provided in the offer email. Accepting an offer does not require any payment and does not lock applicants in, however it does mean we are able to secure their place.

Online enrolment for the 2021 Semester 1 intake will open soon. Applicants who have accepted their offer will receive instructions for enrolling online and we'll be standing by to provide help if needed.

University of Notre Dame Accepting Applications for Bachelor of Primary Education

We are currently accepting applications for the Bachelor of Primary Education, starting in 2021. The Bachelor of Primary Education provides our students with some of the highest rates of practical, industry experience in the country whilst supporting them through our in-depth mentoring program, allowing our students to graduate job ready and in demand.
