UAC webinar: Let's Chat – Alternative pathways to university

3 August 2022. 6pm

Pathway courses are for applicants who don't meet the minimum requirements for entry into a bachelor degree. Learn about certificate, diploma and preparation courses. In this session we'll be joined by a panel of admissions experts from various universities. We'll discuss:

- pathways you can take if you don't meet your dream course's selection criteria
- the benefits of taking a pathway course
- pathway course credits you can receive if you want to get into an undergraduate degree
- which unis offer pathway courses.

UAC webinar: Let's Chat – Teaching students

4 August 2022 6pm

Current students from a range of uni's share their experiences of student life. Topics covered include:
how they decided on the course they are studying what they found easy about the process of applying and enrolling, and what they found hard what they thought uni would be like the best thing about being at uni

Reminder - University of Sydney E12 Webinar

21 June 2022. 6PM

Join us for an online E12 Early Offer Webinar to learn about the scheme, eligibility and how to apply. You can also get help with your application, including some tips and tricks for responding to the three personal statement questions required in your E12 application. The E12 Early Offer and Scholarship Scheme is for students from rural, regional or low socio-economic backgrounds, or those facing financial hardship. It makes your pathway to the University of Sydney easier and helps reduce the financial pressure of your first-year studies. This year, over 90 courses are offered via E12, and hundreds of students enter the University of Sydney through this scheme each year.

University of Newcastle - Joint Medical Program 2023- How to Apply – 5 Steps

To apply to the Joint Medical Program in 2023, you must complete the following three steps. Our Joint Medical Program is world-class and entry is competitive. Each year, 170 places are available in the program across both the University of Newcastle and the University of New England; more than 3,500 people apply for those spaces. Your application will go through a rigorous selection process. If your application isn't successful, we encourage you to apply again the following year or to consider one of the many alternative degrees offered by the University of Newcastle or the University of New England.

Click here to download a prospectus providing an overview of the Joint Medical Program including the application and selection process.

UTAS' Schools Recommendation Program

How does the program work?

Applications open 30 June & close 1 August 2022.

We'll release offers from 25 August through to early November, which takes the pressure off you during year 12.

Australian year 12 students can apply for up to five courses at the end of June. Rather than an ATAR, your application is based on your school's recommendation. This can factor in your year 11 results, as well as other considerations. If you don't receive an offer for your dream course through the program, don't worry. You'll be re-assessed for your higher preferences after your ATAR is released.

Why I chose to study arts

Studying for her HSC, Akala Newman was worried she wouldn't get into her arts degree. 'I love academia, but it doesn't come naturally to me,' she says. 'I'm not built that way.'

<https://www.uac.edu.au/media-centre/news/why-i-chose-to-study-arts>

Arts degrees: tips from a Careers adviser

Arts is a great "launching pad" degree. It's a course that can lead to some amazing postgraduate options, from law to MBA, Juris Doctor, psychology and many more, depending on your major. Whichever area you choose to study, you'll develop transferable skills and the tools to think critically, communicate effectively and conduct research.

ANSTO Competition - This is your year to show off your favourite patterns!

Sat 13 Aug at 12.00pm

Sun 21 Aug at 12.00pm

Launching in National Science week, ANSTO is supporting a science-art competition on the theme of 'Patterns'. The patterns can repeat infinitely (like the atoms within a crystal) or repeat about a point/line/plane (like the shape of a crystal). Once you've seen or made your pattern, you just need to snap a good quality photo and submit your artwork to us! Make sure to also tell us a bit about your pattern with up to 100 words.

10 winners will receive an awesome prize pack. 8 of these winners will be judged by a group of crystallographers (professional pattern-scientists!) and 2 will be voted in by YOU as People's Choice awards.

Get Kids into Surveying

Developed in the UK, Get Kids into Survey poster series puts surveying and geospatial science in the spotlight and renders it approachable by highlighting what makes the professions exciting, challenging and rewarding.

Like the Where's Wally puzzles of yesteryear, every poster is crammed with colourful characters, amusing situations and more. With complementary Q&A sheets that can be downloaded online, these educational aids help generate land surveying discussions in the classroom, at home and beyond.

Set against the backdrop of Sydney Harbour, with the Opera House dominating the skyline, this eye-catching and colourful poster places surveying jobs and geospatial studies in a very Australian context – making it the perfect talking point for primary school students.

Did we mention that they're freely available online?

Conservation Volunteers - Working towards a world in which people and nature flourish together

We exist to strengthen the health of communities and ecosystems for mutual benefit, across Australia.

Through our work, we're building a more harmonious and helpful relationship between people and nature.

People tell us that they want to play their part to re-balance nature, but they don't know where to start. So, for almost 40 years we've been working to give people that opportunity through hands on volunteering.

Now, we're growing our work to empower anyone across Australia to take action for nature through an even wider range of practical activities.
